1. POLICY STATEMENT

- The CCG recognises that during an employee's working life there will be times when personal commitments take priority over work. The Career Break Policy has been designed to allow employees the opportunity to take an unpaid break from their employment, of up to 5 years.

2. PRINCIPLES

2.1 For statutory purposes, the period of the break will count towards continuous employment, however all other terms and conditions of employment with the organisation will be suspended. The period of the career break will therefore not count as reckonable service when calculating contractual entitlement to benefits such as annual leave, sick pay, contractual redundancy payments and any other benefits dependent upon length of service. There will be no entitlement to benefits, such as sick pay, during the period of the break.

2.2 To qualify for a Career Break, employees must:-

- have been employed by the organisation, continuously, on a permanent basis for a period of twelve months or more;
- have demonstrated a commitment to continuing their career with the CCG;
- have the approval of an appropriate authorising manager.

2.3 Subject to business needs, applications will normally be approved for the purpose of;

- caring for a sick or dependent relative;
- caring for children;
- extended periods of travel, or voluntary services;
- personal reasons e.g. following ill health;
- undertaking further education.

Any other reason will be considered on its merit.

2.4 The length of the career break will normally be for a minimum of 3 months up to a maximum of 5 years. More than one career break may be granted in the course of employment provided that the combined length of the breaks does not exceed the maximum of 5 years.

2.5 Managers, where appropriate, should make every opportunity to maintain contact with those staff taking career breaks. The amount and level of contact will vary depending on the length of the career break and the individual circumstances relating to the break.

2.6 Employees will be expected to maintain contact with their manager, and should inform the organisation of any changes to personal circumstances, i.e. change of home address.

2.7 Employees should also demonstrate their commitment to the CCG by;

- not undertaking any other paid employment with another employer during the career break except where, for example, work overseas or charitable work could broaden experience. In such circumstances written authorisation should be sought prior to the start of the career break. Employees who may need to obtain employment to support themselves financially, for example whilst travelling abroad, may do so, but on a casual basis;
- returning to the organisation on the agreed return date.

2.8 Employees considering a career break should be aware of the following:

2.8.1 Annual Leave – all accrued annual leave must be taken before commencement of the career break. No payment in lieu of outstanding leave will be made, neither will any “carry over” of leave be allowed. There is no entitlement to annual leave during the career break. On return to work, entitlement to annual leave would be the same as when the break started, and the period of the career break will not count as reckonable service for leave purposes.

2.8.2 Trade Union Membership – should an individual wish to continue their trade union membership during the break, they must make their own arrangements for subscriptions to be paid.

- Pay – on return to work, employees would resume, for pay purposes, at the same pay point which had been reached at the time the career break began, subject to restructuring or substantial organisational change. If applicable, incremental dates will be deferred accordingly, to ensure that the employee’s terms remain unchanged.

- Occupational Maternity Pay – employees commencing a career break immediately following a period of maternity leave will be liable to repay any Occupational Maternity Pay received should they fail to return to work for a period of 3 months after the break.

2.8.5 Pensions – an employee may choose to continue making contributions to the NHS Pension Scheme during a career break. The form at Appendix 2 must be completed prior to the break to determine the employee’s option in respect of their pension. Arrangements for continuing payments must be made prior to commencement of the break.

For the first 6 months contributions are payable, by both the employee and employer, as if the employee was at work.

An individual who has paid contributions regularly during the first 6 months of a break, may continue to contribute to the Scheme for a further period of up to 18 months (maximum of 2 years). During the extended period, the employee will be responsible for paying both their own and the employer's contributions.

Contributions will be based on the employee's normal pensionable pay. They must continue to be paid monthly, by standing order or Direct Debit; arrears will not be allowed to accumulate.

Further information is available from the Pensions Officer, HR Adviser or the NHS Pensions website www.nhsbsa.nhs.uk/pensions.

2.8.6 Long Service Award – the term of the career break will not count towards qualifying service for the Long Service Award.

2.8.7 Company Property – prior to an employee commencing a career break, where applicable, managers must ensure that appropriate arrangements have been made in respect of company property, i.e.

- Return (or otherwise) of a lease car;
- Return of CCG property, such as mobile telephones, lap tops, keys, etc.

2.8.8 Applying for other Positions – when on a career break, an employee is free to apply for other positions within the organisation. However, employees should note that, should they be successful, continuation of the career break cannot be guaranteed as it will depend upon the business needs and exigencies of the service in the area in which the new post sits. It is advised that a discussion is held with the recruiting manager prior to an application being submitted.

2.9 All records of applications and decisions will be kept on an employee's file and a record kept centrally in Human Resources, for a minimum of 12 months.

- EQUALITY

In applying this policy, the organisation will have due regard for the need to eliminate unlawful discrimination, promote equality of opportunity, and provide for good relations between people of diverse groups, in particular on the grounds of the following characteristics protected by the Equality Act (2010); age, disability, gender, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, and sexual orientation, in addition to offending background, trade union membership, or any other personal characteristic.

- MONITORING & REVIEW

4.1 This policy and procedure will be reviewed periodically by Human Resources in conjunction with operational managers and Trade Union representatives. Where review is necessary due to legislative change, this will happen immediately.

Part 2

- PROCEDURE

- Employees wishing to apply for a career break should complete the application form at Appendix 1, in conjunction with the authorising manager. Both the proposed commencement date and return to work date should be included.
- Applications must be submitted to the authorising manager, at least 3 months prior to commencement of the intended break. Requests made less than 1.3 Applicants will be notified in writing of the decision within 21 days of the date of submission of their application.

1.4 The individual must also complete the form at Appendix 2 to confirm their option in respect of their pension membership during the break (see 2.8.5 above).

1.5 Employees may resort to the grievance procedure if a request for a break is refused.

1.6 Employees will be required to give written notification of their return to work. Where the career break is for less than a year, 2 months' notice of return is required. For breaks of longer than a year, 6 months' notice of return is required. Employees wishing to return earlier than originally anticipated must give 2 months' notice in writing. Employees wishing to extend the length of their career break must apply in writing, at least 2 months' before the agreed end, so that appropriate consideration can be given to an extension.

1.7 Where an employee returns to work within a year, they will return to the same post they held when the career break started, as far as is reasonably practicable. If this is not possible, due to restructuring etc, or if the break has been for longer than a year, then every effort will be made to find the employee a post with similar duties and responsibilities to those of the previous post held. Should it not be possible to find a suitable similar position then redundancy may be considered.

1.8 Employees may be required to undertake a period of training on their return to work. The content and duration will depend on the length of the break, the post, and any changes in working practices, legislation or policy.

Equality Analysis Initial AssessmentTitle of the change proposal or policy:

Career Break Policy

Brief description of the proposal:

To ensure that the policy amends are fit for purpose, that the policy is legally compliant, complies with NHSLA standards and takes account of best practice.

Name(s) and role(s) of staff completing this assessment:

Charmaine Harrison, HR Consultant, Cheshire HR Service

Date of assessment: 28 March 2013

Please answer the following questions in relation to the proposed change:Will it affect employees, customers, and/or the public? Please state which.

All employees of the Business Services Authority.

Is it a major change affecting how a service or policy is delivered or accessed?

No.

Will it have an effect on how other organisations operate in terms of equality?

No.

If you conclude that there will not be a detrimental impact on any equality group, caused by the proposed change, please state how you have reached that conclusion:

The proposed policy will be applied to all employees in a consistent way, in accordance with the details of these procedures regardless of an individuals associated protected characteristic.

Whilst it is acknowledged that under section 2.3 'caring for children' is one of the defined criterion for a successful application and female workers are generally considered as more likely to apply for these reasons, the policy indicates that this is not the only reason why a application may be granted. As indicated above, the principles of the policy will be applied regardless of the applicants sex.

No anticipated detrimental impact on any equality group. The policy adheres to the NHS LA Standards and takes account of best practice. The career break policy makes all reasonable provision to ensure equity of access.
